

Thinking of Selling at auction?

Rook Matthews Sayer works in association with the top property auctioneer in the North East called Agent's Property Auction. They are top, not only for the amount of properties sold but also for the highest price they sell at, which is good news for you selling your home.*

Together, we sell properties of all shapes, sizes and budgets from small bungalows to grand estates across the North East.

Selling at auction enables you to sell your property in a quick and easy way, and within a fixed timescale. So there's no more waiting around, most sales complete within 28 days, which allows you to get moving.

But fear not, when selling at auction you are completely in control of your home sale. You set a reserve price, if this is not met, your house will not be sold and if there's no sale, there's also no fee.

When selling at auction your property is extensively marketed. We advertise your property across Agent Property's regional network of 50 offices, in our own prominent high street branches, on online property websites; Rightmove and Zoopla. We also email details of your property to our database of registered buyers whose requirements match the property you are selling. This combined marketing activity ensures that we achieve the maximum sale price for you.

Selling at auction is perfect if you:

- Want to move quickly.
- Want to achieve the best price for your property.
- Have already found your next dream home.
- Need to relocate or downsize.
- Need to reignite interest in your property.
